Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 21 Aug 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Heavy rain, torrential and thundery in places.

Today:
Heavy, and locally torrential rain lasting most of the day, particularly in the north of the region. In the south, the rain will be followed by heavy thundery showers through the evening. Feeling muggy with light winds. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Tonight:
Thundery showers will continue through the evening, easing by the early hours. A cloudy and muggy night following, with some patchy light rain and low cloud over the hills. Minimum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Sunday:
A drier day than Saturday, but still a scattering of showers around, some heavy. Showers fading through the afternoon leaving more frequent sunny spells by the evening. Feeling warmer. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
A much more settled spell of weather to start the new week with sunny spells. Feeling warmer in the sunshine. Mainly dry, but the chance of an isolated light shower.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.